This helps kids to develop their vision at a very young age, and through workouts like storytelling, we can assist our children to cultivate good vocabulary and good values.

The story of The Truthful Woodcutter was enacted by the students. The story revolves around the poor woodcutter who greeted the angel with words of profuse thanks and great joy. The Angel was impressed by the man's honesty. She presented him with the golden and Silver axes in recognition of his truthful nature. LKG STORY : Stories play a vital role in the growth and development of children. Stories are a great way to introduce new words and ideas into a child's language. By narrating and enacting the stories, one might tell the children the moral lessons in order to elicit favourable behaviour and to discourage unfavourable behaviour. Teachers play an important role in helping children understand the story and capture the message of the story. Teachers are therefore challenged to explore the content of stories and help children connect the story with their daily lives.

In view of the same The fox and the grapes story for children is a famous story with a moral. The story is about a fox and a bunch of grapes which it sees hanging. It jumped high to reach the bunch of grapes but failed. It tried again and again, but the fox missed it each time.
